TUESDAY, DECEMBER 28. 1736.

NUM. 472.

Monday two Mails arrived from Holland, but the Third is still due.

SEVERAL Merchants of Amsterdam, have received Letters from Ispahan and Gilan in Persia, dated in September and October last, with Advice, that every thing is very quiet in that Kingdom, and Provisions exceeding plenty, that the People are every where enjoy'd at the News of the Peace concluded with the Turks, and that there's not the least Talk of any Rebellion or Conspiracy; so that no Manner of Credit is given to the Reports of the Rebellion of the Uzbeks against the new Sophi, or of the Conspiracy of certain Lords against him; and if it may be admitted, that the Reports of that Kind come from People of any Reflection, they can only be credited and propagated by such Persons, to excuse the Persian Monarch for his having made a Peace with the Turks, exclusive of Russia. The Elector Palatine has lately received Letters from one of the Missionary Jesuits in China, which shew, that the new Emperor manifests as great a Zeal for the Roman Catholick Religion, as the Emperor his Father and Predecessor shewed Aversion to it; and that he has permitted the Missionaries here, not only to set open the Churches again, and preach the Gospel as before, but also to send to Europe for as many of their Brethren as they please to join with them. — The Portuguese Jesuits in that Empire, have also wrote Letters to their Superiors and Friends at Lisbon, with Advice, that the new Emperor has restored the foreign Missionaries to the Colleges and Churches at Canton, and other Parts of the Empire, of which they were ousted by the late Emperor; that he had permitted all the Churches to be opened again which his Predecessor had shut up; that he had also given Leave to the Jesuits, to perform all the Functions of their Character in publick, and that two of them who are very well skilled in Astrology and the Mathematicks, were highly in Favour with that Emperor, who is fond of cultivating those two Sciences.

They write from Constantinople, that in the Beginning of last Month, the Grand Signior held an extraordinary Divan, consisting of the Musti, the Kaimacan of that City, and all the Ministers of the Porte, wherein 'twas determined, that his Highness was not responsible for any Offence which the Crime Tartars had given to the Russians, and consequently, not obliged to give them any Satisfaction, and that therefore they could not in Honour consent, that the Russians should remain in Possession of Asoph: and we are assured, that the Kaimacan has since declared to the Emperor's Minister, Tahlman, that the Grand Signior can never consent to an Accommodation with Russia, without the Restitution of Asoph; and he at the Time gave him to understand, that if the Court of Russia would agree to that Condition, his Highness would give up all the Northern Tartary to that Power, to enable it the better to keep off the Tartars. Mean time the Preparations of the Porte up the Black and White Seas are in such Forwardness, that 11 Sultanas, 36 Gallies, and above 100 Gallions, are ready to sail upon the first Orders, besides a great many other Vessels. The Kaimacan and others in the Turkish Ministry, leave no Stone unturn'd to engage the Persian Ambassador to unite his Endeavours with their's, in order to prevail on Kouli Kan, to accept of the secret Articles which his Highness has proposed to him: What those Articles are, is a Secret, which we are assured, that there is but one foreign Minister at the Porte who has been let into it.

An Affair has lately happen'd at Syracuse in Sicily, which makes a great Noise. The Prætor, one of the chief Civil Magistrates of that City, going his rounds one Night to see that every thing was quiet and safe, met with two Officers of a Neapolitan Regiment in Garison there, and order'd his Exempts to commit them to Prison, who tho' they were released next Morning, thought it so heinous an Affront, that they apply'd to the Governor for Satisfaction, who thereupon caused the Prætor's Exempts to be sent to Prison, and thought the Officers would not insist on any other Amends; but the latter not therewith content, engag'd several other Officers of the Regiment to side with 'em, and went with some Soldiers to the Prison, where having broke open the Gates they fell upon the Exempts unmercifully, and actually cut off the Tips of their Noses and their Ears: Of this the Government immediately sent an Express to inform the Court of Naples, who have resolv'd to punish the Authors of this Outrage with Severity.

From Hanover, we have Advices that are much more shocking. — The sudden Death of the two last Dukes of Brunswick Wolfenbüttele, and the little Interval there was between the Deaths of both, made it shrewdly suspected, that there had been some foul Play. At first, indeed, this Opinion was look'd upon as Groundless; but by what Tokens have appeared since, it may perhaps prove to be too true: For after a great deal of secret Inquiry, the most execrable Plot has just been discovered at the Court of Brunswick, that human Malice could be capable of inventing. A Design of above 5 Years Existence, has been form'd to destroy the Reigning Family of Brunswick Wolfenbüttele by Poison; of which infernal Project, the two last Dukes have been already the melancholy Victims, and the present Duke could not possibly have mis'd the same Fate, if Providence had not been his Guard, and display'd its Injustice, by the Discovery of so base a Conspiracy. The Persons concerned in it are no less than 36 in Number; but the most flagrant Villain of all is one Baron Wolff, who was for several Years at the Court of Brunswick. This Man is committed to the Tower of Hartz, where he is made close Prisoner, with a Man constantly to watch him, and is both hand-cuff'd and fetter'd. We have the Pleasure also to hear, that most of his Accomplices have been apprehended, tho' others of 'em are fled. The Duke of Brunswick has appointed Commissioners to try them, and 'tis not doubted but most of 'em will receive Sentence of Death. M. Boetger, one of the Duke's Privy Council, is to prosecute Baron Wolff, and to make his Report to the Duke; and the said Counsellor has been already several Times at Hartz Tower to examine the Baron, who finding his Crimes discover'd, has thought fit to make a Confession of his Guilt, and has declar'd such Things as are enough to make a Man tremble with Horror but to hear them.

They write from the Hague, that after his Majesty arrived from Hanover at the Brille, he had a very disagreeable Journey from thence to Helvoetsluys, by reason of the Badness of the Roads, which were in a Manner impracticable, and that therefore it was determined, after some Consideration, when he came to the Brille, that his Majesty should be carried by Water to Helvoetsluys, by keeping along the Shore, with Voorn Isle to the East; but a thick Fog arising, and Night coming on, it was thought too dangerous; so that the King, with M. Peterwald his Chamberlain, was forced to go into one of those Dutch Caravans call'd Bolderwagen; and in this, the most incommodious of all known Vehicles, was his Majesty carried by the Light of Flambeaus, and the Guards that attended him, thro' the common Road to Helvoetsluys, which was not only exceeding dirty, but so dangerous, that his Carriage was every Moment in Danger of being over-turn'd; and for these Reasons, it was no less than 3 Hours in travelling one League.

The same Letters bring the happy News that her Royal Highness the Princess of Orange recovers her Strength every Day more and more, and that she is judg'd to be quite out of Danger.

Last Tuesday se'nnight John Henry Count de Wassenauer Lord Obdam, &c. &c. took his Seat as Deputy of the Nobility of Holland and West-Friseland, in the College of the Deputy Counsellors of South Holland, in the room of the late Baron de Boetzlaer.

The Original Instruments for the Guaranty of Naples and Sicily, and the Dominions of Parma and Placenza being exchange'd by the respective Monarchs by whom they have been sign'd, and the same having been sent to the Imperial and Spanish Generals in Italy, the News of the Evacuation of Tuscany may be expected in a Post or two.

Edinburgh, Dec. 17. Friday last his Excellency General Wade set out hence for London. The Command of the Troops in this Part of the Kingdom, is devolved on the Hon. Brigadier General Guilt.

That Afternoon the Corpse of my Lord Newhall was carried from his House with great Pomp, yet as far below his Merit, as beyond the Humility of his Inclinations. The Procession was as follows.

1. The Right Hon. the Lord Provost, Magistrates and Town Council, preceded by the Town Officers, and the Mace in Mourning.
2. The Nobility and other Persons of Distinction, the Clergy, Advocates, Writers to the Signet, and a vast Number of other Gentlemen, made up the main Body.
3. The Right Hon. the Senators of the College of Justice in their Robes, two and two, preceded by the Maces of Court, their Maces in Mourning.
4. The principal Clerks in Session, in Gowns two and two.
5. His Lordship's two Gowns in Mourning, carried by two Gentlemen.

The Corpse was carried by his Children and Relations, and about 3 o'Clock interred in the Gray Friars Church-yard, with a Concern and Tears from Persons of all Ranks, sufficient to shew that it was not in the Grave of Oblivion.

Dublin, Dec. 21. On Friday last were executed near Bandon in the County of Cork, four Persons, viz. the Father, Son, Daughter and Daughter's Husband, for the Murder of one Mr. Boyce; there was another Woman convicted for the same Fact, but she being with Child, her Execution is respited till she is delivered.

On Saturday Night last died Mrs. Worthington, Wife of Bruen Worthington, Esq; Clerk to the Hon. House of Commons, whose Death is also hourly expected.

Several Gentlemen of Credit and Reputation in this City, have undertaken to make a particular Application for the Relief of the unfortunate Sufferers by the late Fire at the Sugar House in Mary's Abby: We hear their Loss is computed to near 6000 l.
